

ROMOLD DN1000/625 PE Cable Chamber

KS 100.63/70 (LGH 63 DD PE Cover Shown)

Sealed PE access chamber for electrical or other applications

- One-piece PE chambers
- Variety of sizes available
- Seals can be used for conduit connection
- Height adjustable
- Approved for traffic loading

Specifications:

|                                |                                                                     |
|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Material:                      | Polyethylene, rotational moulded                                    |
| External Dimensions:           | 1140x1140x700H                                                      |
| Internal Height:               | 600-700mm                                                           |
| Weight:                        | 34kg                                                                |
| Traffic loading:               | Class D (meets HN-HO-72)                                            |
| Maximum permanent temperature: | 50°C                                                                |
| Joints:                        | SBR seals for conduit or pipe                                       |
| Seal tolerance:                | ±5°                                                                 |
| Risers available:              | 400, 600 & 900mm (DN625)                                            |
| Bottom:                        | Flat, closed                                                        |
| Manhole cover:                 | DI 600 clear opening, 850mm OD round frameor PE cover with seal |